CUSHIONERA IITM

White Frame

Style, luxury and comfort are just a few words to describe Telescope's new Cushionera II grouping.

Sun porches and recreation rooms will be enhanced by either the Blue Plaid or Yellow Plaid design on a white frame.

Cushionera's twin-leg design will provide strength where it's needed.

The frame finish is a baked-on white polyester. All cushions are woven vinyl-coated mesh, tufted and stuffed with a polyester fibre batting.

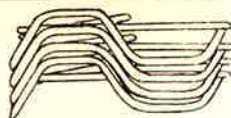

Strong vinyl strapping is used for back and seat supports. Plastic caps or glides aid in preventing surface marring of patios.

Highlights of Telescope's History Since 1903

When the firm was founded in 1903, its name "Telescope Cot Bed Company" aptly described its output. The wood parts for the cots were produced in Telescope, Pennsylvania and shipped to the plant and offices in New York.

Owned and operated by the Henry J.W. Vanderminden Family since 1905, the Telescope Folding Furniture Co., Inc. is located in Granville, a community in upstate New York located on the Vermont border.

Telescope is recognized as being the "Home of the World-Famous Director Chair."

In 1954, Telescope began manufacturing summer and casual furniture with folding aluminum and in 1973 production of the furniture was expanded to include a baked-on "Powder-Coated" finish.

For more than three-quarters of a century, Telescope has been a leader in providing America with quality products in the Summer & Casual Furniture Industry.
